

We give an overview of the program Normaliz and demonstrate its use by some typical examples. Normaliz computes solutions of linear diophantine systems (geometrically: lattice points in polyhedra) by finding generators for the solutions and enumerative data such as Hilbert series.

Normaliz is available for all major operating systems and has interfaces to several computer algebra systems.